Neal's Yard Remedies, pioneers in natural health and beauty, announces that it will sponsor a Show Garden, to be submitted for Chelsea Flower Show 2009. Leading garden designer, Cleve West, and organic herb expert, Jekka McVicar, will be working together to design and plant the company's first ever Show Garden.

The garden will reflect Neal's Yard Remedies passion for plants and the therapeutic impact that plants have on health and beauty. Neal's Yard Remedies is the leading natural and organic health and beauty company in the UK. It produces a wide range of beauty products, tinctures, herbal teas and herbal remedies, which harness the power of plants, using the purest natural ingredients, free from harmful chemicals.

Leading garden designer Cleve West, gold winner in 2008, has a reputation for innovative garden landscapes. His creative use of space and harmonious planning puts him at the forefront of contemporary garden design in the UK. Cleve has won five RHS Gold Medals.

Jekka started her own organic Herb Farm over 25 years ago around the same time that Neal's Yard Remedies was created. She now grows more than 600 species of culinary, medicinal and aromatic herbs from around the world for mail order. She has been awarded 60 RHS Gold Medals for her herb displays, including 13 at Chelsea Flower Show.

Peter Kindersley, owner of Neal's Yard Remedies said, "Cleve and Jekka share our passion and belief in the power of plants. Together, we want to remind people of the healing properties of plants, to demonstrate their role in natural medicine, and to show people that gardens can be therapeutic, as well as beautiful."
